From deep time to the present: An exploration of Aboriginal connections to South Australia's Riverland region

Wednesday, 24 November 2021 15:30 (20)

This keynote address will explore a range of cultural heritage projects relating to collaborations between ANSTO, Flinders University and the River Murray and Mallee Aboriginal Corporation. From rare artefacts to earthen cooking mounds and ancient shell middens this presentation considers the contribution of radiocarbon dating within a broader research program that has investigated Aboriginal connections to Country from deep time to the present in South Australia's Riverland region.
