The New EPICS Website: epics-controls.org

Thursday, 15 November 2018 09:20 (20)

First announced last October in Barcelona, a new website for the EPICS community has been created. The new site uses a content-management system (WordPress with various plugins) making it possible for many people to contribute. A review mechanism is in place so that content and style of the site can be kept consistent and under control. Existing content from the old site has been transferred or linked.
The stage has been set: now we need YOU to keep the website alive, fresh and up to date!
